PREPARATION
exchange application process	NOTE! The end date is officially 30 June but everyone is already finished way before that, the latest I've heard is 5 June. Keep this in mind when booking flights/planning free time. I was rejected from my first three options, so Tallinn to me was a 'leftover' option. Application process was quite easy, websites at TLU are easily accessible and work pretty well. Keep in mind that courses are often in estonian or russian so really look at details before putting these in the study plan. For Russian students, TLU is a good university to attend with lots of options. Anyways, application process was okay. I'd say the Utrecht side was more difficult than the Tallinn side. One of my problems was with the declaration of honour. I thought it meant travelling green while in the exchange country, not travelling there as that was called the travel green grant and a separate document. They were almost the same thing, which confused me a lot. I also was not able, and am still not able, to edit the box with 'comments/questions regarding topups'. This could have helped way earlier instead of waiting on the email I had sent. To conclude, all in all application is doable but it's a little bit of a pain to do - but it's administration so what else can you expect you know? counselling & support at Utrecht University	The only problem I can report is that because the exchange is so layered, there are numerous departments for everything, making it sometimes hard to know who to contact. Often you also have to wait a while for responses, but eventual responses are always good in my experience. academic preparation	I don't really know what is meant by this, but meaning preparation for courses at home I did not at all. I could only start preparing when I arrived and had system access to those study programmes. I finished off my courses from the fall before I came to Tallinn, which I do advise as people who didn't do that seemed a bit more stressed to be handling two universities at the same time. language preparation	None, I did some Estonian for fun but nothing serious. Had to hand in (for both universities) language certificate of English but that was easy for me personally as an English student who had done extra exams in high school.

finances
Sounds bad perhaps, but I put my DUO up a little bit before already to have a good buffer to live there. In general I had saved money from working so I could do this. It was more planning how much I wanted to spend a month maximum and sort of accepting that I would have no money when returning as I did not plan to get a job there. Having a buffer prepared is smart advice, as my mom would say "always have enough for a (plane) ticket home".

STUDY ABROAD PERIOD
study programme (content and organisational issues)
The biggest issue with TLU is a lack of conformity; every course and every professor even within the same course does what they think is best. The result is a lot of different expectations and requirements for each course. Some have a very strict attendance requirement, while others don't care at all.
academic quality of education activities
I would say that UU has a higher quality, but it isn't a big difference. Again, this depends on which courses you take and what preparation you have to do for each of them. I enjoyed my courses and learned something from all of them, but the professors were not always enthusiastic even though they clearly knew a lot. There are no 'werkcolleges' like in UU, most of them are just 'hoorcolleges', which resulted for me sometimes in a lack of motivation and boredom in class. Overall, I would recommend TLU academically, only I cannot advise at all how much time you will spend studying as this differs for each person.
counselling & support at receiving university abroad
Again, differs per person. A friend of mine was not helped at all when she was struggling, and just passed off with a 'can't do anything, it's out of my hands.' I only had to change one course and that was done very easily as it was in the period of making changes to your study plan. I did not need counselling or support.
transfer of credits
This went very smoothly, the exchange coordinator had appointments on her google calendar and everything was signed off quickly.

STUDENT LIFE
welcome & orientation programme
This was okay, not that extravagant as TLU doesn't exist for very long (so there couldn't be a big history or architectural tour). I loved the folkdancing welcome they did and the international dinner. The presentations were a bit boring as they included the basic facts and instructions, but they were very informative and helpful.
accommodation
I lived in a private apartment with two older people that worked from home (landlord Emilio Garcon, if you want to live there, message me first to make sure). I was offered a place at the dorms though and the process of that seemed to go very smoothly. I would personally not go into the dorms as the walls are apparently thin and you have to have an actual roommate sharing a bedroom.
leisure & culture
Biggest tip: join ESN Tallinn/TLU/TalTech!! They organise amazing events and make for an unforgettable time here. This is a good way to find friends and to get to know the city as a student, not as a tourist. Culturally, dive into the folkdancing and medieval history they have here. Tallinn has lots of different things to offer and the nature surrounding it is also amazing. As the countries are quite close to one another, visit all the baltic states and Finland, you will not regret it.

suggestions/tips
Remember to pack lots of warm clothes for the cold months and get vitamin D pills. I'd recommend going in the spring semester as the weather gets warmer and sunnier instead of dreary and cold.

CONCLUSIONS
would you recommend this university/destination abroad to others? please explain Yes, while the university did not always challenge me academically, I learned a lot about this other culture and other perspective of Estonia. It is so interesting to look at their history and see how it formed them. There's lots of different things to study here and TLU is a fun place to explore your options. Culturally, this city has a lot of it and is open to sharing it (even if the average Estonian might seem rude). It is a bit tough in the winter months, but the different weather is also beautiful to experience.
do you have any additional advice or comments?
Try to live every experience, even the bad ones. Don't try to shut it out, process everything you feel and do. I liked keeping a blog. Going on an exchange can be tough, but putting yourself out there will result in the greatest development of yourself you'll ever have. Also to order food or taxi here you currently need a credit card, just fyi (or cash but everything over is tip for driver).

PREPARATION

exchange application process
The application process was easier than I thought and heard it would be. I recommend going to the "information afternoon" because everything you have to do for your application will be explained properly. The most important thing is getting all the right signs from your home and your partner university, but both institutions are willing to help and to warn you if you didn't sign the document the right way.
counselling & support at Utrecht University
The International Office responded very quickly and were always willing to help you, even with "stupid" problems.
academic preparation
I didn't do any academic preparations. The academic level in Tallinn is not as high as in the Netherlands, so it isn't necessary to worry about your academic abilities.
language preparation
Because all my courses were in English, I didn't do any language preparations (except from the mandatory Erasmus English test you'll receive by mail).
finances
Before my Erasmus, I saved some money, so I wouldn't get in any financial troubles. I really recommend having some savings because you don't want to miss anything when you're abroad for not that long. Tallinn appeared to be a bit more expensive than I thought. The prices are more or less the same as in the Netherlands, some things are a bit cheaper (out for dinner), but other things are a bit more expensive (going for a coffee or going to a club). The supermarkets have more or less the same prices, but it really depends on which supermarket you go to.

STUDY ABROAD PERIOD
study programme (content and organisational issues)
In Tallinn, I didn't get to do all the courses I wanted to do in the first place, due to overlap in schedule, but my home university was fine with me taking different courses than I planned. In the introduction week, everything about the online systems, passwords and signing up for the courses was explained in different lectures, so if you attend those lectures, you won't get any problems with that. In the beginning, I had to get used to the different online systems, but after two weeks, everything became clear.
academic quality of education activities
Eventually, I ended up with some cultural and literary courses. The courses about Estonia were very easy, since they were clearly meant for Erasmus-students. Some of the courses included some activities and day-trips, which were a nice addition to the normal lessons. The rest of the courses I attended were a bit more difficult, but still very manageable. I must admit I never had to do so little homework as during my time in Tallinn.
counselling & support at receiving university abroad
I could figure everything out by myself, so I can't say anything about this.
transfer of credits
The online system of Tallinn University is very clear, but it wasn't clear to me how my grades would be transferred to my home university. I recommend checking this before your Erasmus.

STUDENT LIFE

welcome & orientation programme
The first week of the academic semester was a orientation week. There were many lectures with information about housing, becoming a resident of Estonia (which gives you free public transport in Tallinn), ESN-activities and things according studying at Tallinn University. This was a great way to get all the information as well as meeting new people.
accommodation
I stayed in a shared apartment (with private room) from 1Home. Although the location was perfect and my room was fine, there are better places available for less money. I recommend searching for a flat with some other people or checking facebook to get a private room.
leisure & culture
ESN organises a lot of activities in the first weeks of the semester, so I really recommend going there to meet new people. Already in the first week, I met some people who became my friends for the rest of the semester (and hopefully long after that). Although people in Tallinn aren't always that friendly and open, I really felt at home in this beautiful and interesting city.
suggestions/tips
Go to the activities from ESN in the orientation week! You will meet lots of people who are also alone and probably looking for some friends. I also recommend just wandering around the city, and especially Old Town. Tallinn is beautiful and you'll discover new places every time.

CONCLUSIONS
would you recommend this university/destination abroad to others? please explain Yes! I had the best semester ever. Tallinn is a nice combination of medieval buildings, soviet history and modern technology. It's not a very big and busy city, but still a capital which means that everything is well-organized, but there are still lots of things to do. I'm really going back as soon as possible. The academic level of Tallinn University wasn't that high, but the teachers were always very friendly and willing to help which made studying there a nice experience.
do you have any additional advice or comments?

PREPARATION

exchange application process

The exchange application process went rather smooth. Of course it was sometimes a little bit complicated to get all the documents, but Tallinn University provided a digital application system which is very easy to use. Sometimes I had some question on what exactly I needed to fill in but the Estonian exchange studies coordinator was always willing to help and she responded to my emails quickly. I think the most complicated part was getting all the necessary documents from the UU, since there are so many different places where you need to get and submit documents you easily loose control on what needs to be done. Luckily the people at the UU international office were always keen to help so everything worked out

counselling & support at Utrecht University

The counseling and support at the UU is very good, emails get responded quickly and even when I had questions while being in Estonia the staff helped me really well when I called them on the phone.

academic preparation

I didn't do much academic preparation haha. I tried finding which books and course material I would need in Estonia but it isn't really specified clearly on their website so I just went to the classes and the teachers told me what to read and prepare and they provided free digital copies for everyone. Thank God I didn't have to purchase those expensive books.

language preparation

My main goal was to learn Russian in Estonia, so I took a course in Russian at the University of Amsterdam but the academic level was to high for me so I quit. If you want to learn a language be sure what your goal is with it; e.g. do you want to have basic conversations with native speakers (basically being able to communicate) or do you want an in-depth study where you learn all sorts of linguistic characteristics that you don't use in everyday conversations? I wanted to just be able to speak Russian with Russian-speakers and I don't care so much for all the linguistic characteristics, so studying a language in a university is not an option for me anymore. A language course is.

finances

I more of less expected that Estonia would be cheaper than the Netherlands but I fooled myself. It's still an affordable country, but mostly food and drinks are more expensive than the Netherlands. Before my departure I worked for 4 months so I saved up quite a lot of money. I loan the maximum amount of money that is allowed (around 1000 euro's), which was plenty enough to cover all my costs. I think if you have 600-700€/month available it would be enough to cover your expenses (rent/food/drinks). My rent was cheap (130€/month) but that's about it. Vegetables, fruit, meat almost everything has to be imported so it's expensive. Just like Finland, Estonia raises large taxes on alcoholic beverages so in general those are expensive, expect to pay around 1.20-1.50 euros for a beer (500mL) in the supermarket and 3.00-5.00 euros in a pub or club. Strong liquor is even worse. I'm not really a clubgoer so most of my money went to travelling, I visited almost every country nearby that I could with the time I had. If want to have a large budget to also travel a lot like me, it's advisable to get side-job at a bar or food delivery.

STUDY ABROAD PERIOD

study programme (content and organisational issues)
My study programme consists of Russian- and history-related subjects. I took Russian A1 (R1), Russian History (RH), History and Memory (HM) and Estonian Regional Studies (ERS). R1 was nice, but sadly our teacher was far from proficient in English eventhough she claimed otherwise. She was understandable enough to make sense from what she was saying but that's about it. The course was not really hard, just attend all the classes and do your homework and you're fine. I liked that it was relatively easy, because now I have a basic vocabulary and sense of grammar. I'm now also more encouraged to continue taking Russian courses when I get back to NL. RH was very interesting, because this type of history rarely gets attention in the Netherlands, only one or two universities in NL give equivalent courses. The organisation was a bit odd, because the professor was always really well prepared for the lecture and had a nice voice to listen to. Only the rest of the students annoyed me because no one every responds when the teacher asks a question. Also when we had to give a presentation about that week's literature no one answered our questions. Students there really lack participation. HM was a master's level course and I liked that we were with a small group of people that were a little more serious than the average bachelor level student. Good teachers and interesting excursions. ERS was a bit of a joke haha. Very poorly organized, with a different teacher every week and basically only excursions to boring museums. Easy to pass but hard to keep up with. It did provide me with a broad knowledge about Estonian culture and history, so if you're into that than it might be worth taking.
academic quality of education activities
I would not say that the academic quality is very high, I'm a third year bachelor student and the courses I generally take at Utrecht are quite intensive and require active participation. My courses in Estonia would be around the same level as the history courses I took in my first year at the UU.
counselling & support at receiving university abroad
Excellent, the exchange student coordinator was always there when I needed her and her English is very good as well. Always helpful.
transfer of credits
I took some time before all my courses were graded but I received my transcript of records in good shape. At TLU they grade with letters from F, being the lowest to A, being the highest.

STUDENT LIFE
welcome & orientation programme	On the 28 th of January we went to a presentation where the rector explained what Estonia and TLU are like and we got a tour through the university. We were also introduced to the local Erasmus student organization and they organized all kinds of nice trips and activities for Erasmus students.
accommodation	I stayed at the university dormitory and it was the worst accomodation I ever had. It's cheap (130€/month) and it gets cleaned every week, those are the only advantages of it. Only I shared the bedroom (yes) with two other people and I had arguments with one of them all the time. One of these guys farts and snores really loudly at night so I hardly slept. I got used to it after a while but it's far from something I can recommend. The kitchen is also not provided with cutlery or pots and pans, so you have to get those yourself. It's also poorly ventilated, which made the farting of my roommate inbearably and the other people that lived there cooked really stong-smelling dishes which I was able to smell already in the hallway when I approached the door. An advantage was that only 5 people (including me) lived in the apartment, most apartments have 10 residents and those are even worse, because there's always people partying in the kitchen and making noise when you just want to go to sleep. I strongly advise to find a cheap apartment on Facebook or a housing website, it's about as hard finding something nice and affordable as it is in Utrecht so start early.

leisure & culture

Tallinn is not really a student city so I found it hard to find things to do. I did some clubbing in the beginning but after the second month I started to hate it because I'm not fond of the music and the people that go there, but that's just my personal experience. I mostly travelled with friends or by myself in and out of Estonia. I have a passion for old cars, so when I had a week holiday in March, I flew back to the Netherlands, bought a 30-year-old car and drove it all the way to Tallinn. It took me three days. An adventure of a lifetime. I also used the car to go to all kinds of national parks in Estonia and to visit Riga (recommended). This is quite an extraordinary example but I can tell you that there's plenty of time to travel, it's ok to miss a few lectures/seminars. I also went to Russia, Sweden and Finland, those countries are expensive but getting there was relatively cheap. The ferry to Finland costs somewhere between 20-30 euros (roundtrip), the Swedish ferry was 60 euros (roundtrip) and Russia was around 150 euros for a week stay (excl. 60€ visa) by a trip company.

suggestions/tips

Travel as much as you can, especially Russia is highly recommended. Estonia is nice and cool in the first weeks you stay there, but you get bored by it at one point. It's cheaper than Estonia and even though few people speak English there, they are usually very friendly.

CONCLUSIONS

would you recommend this university/destination abroad to others? please explain

Not necessarily, it really depends on the kind of person you are. My interests are different than most and I'm not much of a big fan of clubbing, so I had a hard time trying to fit in with the rest. What also didn't really help is that I was the only Dutch person in Tallinn University and I saw that most friend groups are people that speak the same language. Italians hang out with Italians, French with French, Germans with Germans, etc. Also, Estonians are in general introverted people so most Estonians get awkward when you want to have a small talk conversation with them or completely avoid you. If you are super social and are able to make friends with everyone then you're probably fine staying in Estonia. For me it was not so the case, I was unpleasantly surprised that friend groups only consist of people speaking the same language. My friend in Sweden did not experience the same thing, so it could be something Estonian. Besides, the life in the dormitory didn't allow me to retreat into the bedroom because there was always an annoying roommate around. Making friends was hard for me and in combination with the dreary weather I felt sad for a big part of my stay here.

do you have any additional advice or comments?

I think if you go here with one or two friends and get a nice place to live, you are already ten times better off than me. I guess I was just unlucky. I made some dope international friends and travelled a lot but I enjoyed it not as much as I would expect it to. Still, I don't regret it since I experienced a lot of cool things too and I had a lot of time to overthink life. I also heard good stories about people who went on an Erasmus exchange to Tartu, that's a more student-centered city so you could try your luck there too.

PREPARATION
exchange application process	There's a lot of paper work but don't let it scare you. The guidelines about which documents you need to fill in are really clear and examples are given.
counselling & support at Utrecht University	In my experience the International Office responded really quickly on their e-mails. Since most contact finds place online this was really helpful.
academic preparation	Since I wanted to follow mostly practical courses academic preparation was not really the case for me.
language preparation	If you study at the UU you automatically get a confirmation of the English level B2. Additionally you will make a language test for the Erasmus+ program. With this you can find out for yourself what your actual level of English would be.
finances	When you apply for an exchange semester, one of the forms you have to fill in is a financial report. In this report you will figure out how much money you will probably need for your exchange semester: how much you will earn in this period and how much you will spend. This way for me it became really clear what I could expect and how much money I needed to start saving. In general I started to save a lot of money, not necessarily because the country I went to was expensive, but because I knew I wanted to live life to the fullest.

STUDY ABROAD PERIOD
study programme (content and organisational issues)	I followed most courses at the Baltic Film and Media School department and at the Arts department and most of them were quite practical. I learned more about photography and filmmaking. I enjoyed the content of the courses since the practical courses were totally different from what I was used to at the UU. From the theoretical courses I recognized a lot of theories and authors I already learned about. Still there were some different perspectives. Organizationally there were some issues at the beginning. In our first week we heard that in most of the practical courses only a maximum of 5 exchange students were allowed to participate. At that moment we were with like 20 to 30 exchange students and I started to panic a bit. I was afraid I wouldn't get into the courses I wanted - all the courses of my learning agreement - and I didn't get why the university accepted so many people to this program if they had such few places. Eventually I could be relieved by some teachers who told us it was not that strict.. and that they didn't mind having more exchange students. So eventually I got accepted to all the courses I wanted the most. There were only 2 courses I couldn't get in but the Film and Media department coordinator really helped me with choosing different courses which would also fit in my schedule and interests.

academic quality of education activities
Of the few theoretical courses I had, the academic quality was not that high in my opinion. For those courses it was enough to show up and be in class; reading academical articles or something like that was not necessary. The theoretical courses were mostly about discussing theories together.
counselling & support at receiving university abroad
Quick responses from the University itself. Clear information and a clear website, which made searching specific things easy. I also requested a 'student mentor' but I didn't even met her during my stay. So in the end that was not really necessary to have, since I did not really need someone's help to figure out life there. As said before, the coordinator of my study program was also really helpful in finding me the best alternative courses.
transfer of credits
Tallinn University has a good online system in which you can see your courses, your learning agreement, and receive all your grades and credits.

STUDENT LIFE
welcome & orientation programme	The whole first week was orientation week. We got a lot of information.. there were so many things we had to take care off our first weeks of our stay in Estonia... For example you had to register as a citizen of Tallinn (in order to get free transport!) and then you first had to register at some office and then go to the police station and it took a long time. But it was worth it as soon as you received your Estonian ID - pretty cool to have. They also told us a lot about Estonia and it's history. The traditions and the way people act. The University had a nice welcome program with live music and drinks and food, but also the ESN mad a huge contribution to my first weeks there. They organized a lot of 'get to know each other' activities and days were fully planned with fun.
accommodation	In july, before my departure, I got the notification I couldn't get a place into the dormitories. This is when a lot of stress begun since I had only 1 month left to find another place to stay. Through FaceBook i came in contact with 3 other exchange students (from France and Austria) and together we started searching for a private apartment. It was a lot to organize and took quite some time but in the end I found an apartment for us right next to the university and then we really had our own place with our own bedrooms (not shared like in most dormitories) and with a lot of freedom.
leisure & culture	The ESN in Tallinn is really big and organize a lot of activies and trips. Especially the first weeks / months it was so easy to get to know people and also to get to know the Estonian culture. Already my first days I fell i love with Tallinn. The city had everything I want: an old, medieval Town, nice parks, a beach and amazing viewing points. There were a lot of cafés were I often went with my friends, either during the day for a coffee or during the night for a beer. Since the city is not that big it was the perfect Erasmus city since there were certain places all Erasmus students went to on specific nights.

suggestions/tips

Start looking for apartments / accomodations early! I waited till I knew for sure if I could get a place into the dormitories or not, and then i had a lot of stress finding something else afterwards. In the end I'm so happy I lived in my own apartment and not in the dormitories so I would suggest other students to just start looking early at real estate websites to have a lot of possibilities and choice regarding location and price.

CONCLUSIONS

If you are looking for a university which academically challenges you, looking at the media department I would not recommend the university. If you are looking for some practical courses and experiences, where it's more important to work together with other students, either by making pictures/films or by discussing cultural differences, I would recommend Tallinn University.

What i will recommend FOR SURE is the destination!! Estonia is located really central and it's quite small so it's so easy to travel to surrounding countries as well! I didn't hear anyone else who went on exchange (in another country) who travelled as much as me and my friends from Tallinn did. You could easily take a bus to Lithounia, Latvia and Russia or go by boat to Finland. I visted as well Helsinki as Finish Lapland. I took a cruise to Stockholm, Sweden. I even took cheap flights to Copenhagen and Oslo! I travelled around in Estonia itself as well, it was really easy to discover this country by bus. Estonia really is the perfect place to discover the hidden gems of Northern Europe. While living in a medieval city near the beach. I loved every second of it.

Wherever you go: don't play it safe. Go somewhere you would normally never go to. Go out of your comfort zone. Go alone. Make the most out of your time - 5 months seems a lot but you don't want to let them to just pass you by. For me my exchange semester was for a huge part about travelling and discovering the country and other countries. You have the time for it! Use it! Save money beforehand because you will need it. Don't be too 'oh no that costs money..', cause you will only regret it in the end. Go partying. I understand that students also want to take their studies seriously but when you're on exchange don't feel too obligated - don't spend your whole day in the library studying. Otherwise why did you even go abroad. And mostly, a bit of cliché, but don't forget to sometimes stand still and think about your life at that moment. What a chance you have got and on what kind of crazy adventure you are. Because it is an adventure, and looking back I'm not necessarily sad that it's over, I'm just so intensely happy I experienced it.

STUDENT LIFE
welcome & orientation programme
	The orientation was this year in the same week as the start of the classes, so that was a bit though. But it is manageable. The orientation information is very clear and thorough, and there are plenty of nice activities that give you the opportunity to get to know the other students and the city.
accommodation
	Tallinn University offers accommodation for most of the students. I chose to find my own place, which is not super difficult. The accommodation that the University offers is okay, although you most likely have to share a room.
leisure & culture
	The culture is in fact surprisingly similar to West-European culture, mainly because of the German influences in Tallinn. But you will most likely spend the most time with international students. Estonians are a bit shy and introvert, but they can be nice if you get to know them. Finally, there are more than enough things to explore in the city, and also some cool spots in the country. Also, traveling to neighbouring and nearby countries such as Latvia, Lithuania, Russia, Sweden and Finland is easy and cheap.
suggestions/tips
	I would highly recommend Tallinn University if you plan to do trips during your stay!

CONCLUSIONS
would you recommend this university/destination abroad to others? please explain
	I would, but I won't say that it's the greatest university or city or anything. Everything is organized perfectly fine here, and you are supported in every necessary way. Estonia is a nice country, and surprisingly progressive and well organized. But it is not super special or amazing. The level of education is fine, but not as great as in the Netherlands. I would recommend it most to people who are planning to make trips during their stay and/or people that are interested in humanities and international relations.
do you have any additional advice or comments?
	Not really.

PREPARATION
exchange application process
	The administrative process was in my opinion taking too long. You should start early with the whole application process and keep track of all the deadlines.
counselling & support at Utrecht University
	The counselor at Utrecht University was very helpful and always answered my questions in a short period of time.
academic preparation
	The academic preparation I had for this program was suitable.
language preparation
	Before you take part in the study abroad, you are requested to complete a language assessment test. This will indicate your level of English. From my personal experience I can say that I have not had any trouble with making myself understood during this study abroad.
finances
	It depends on the cost of living in the country where you are going to spend your semester abroad. In Tallinn everything was cheaper than in Utrecht. But if you for example would go to Cambridge it would obviously cost more than Utrecht. The student grant really helps you to have a bit more 'financial space'.

STUDY ABROAD PERIOD
study programme (content and organisational issues)
	The content of the courses really varied in this programme. The level of difficulty as well. Some courses were quite hard, and you had to spend approximately 25 hours extra a week to complete the assignment with a high grade. Other courses were really easy and with a little effort you could get an A.
academic quality of education activities
	See my statement above.
counselling & support at receiving university abroad
	I am very positive about the counselling and support of Tallinn University. I felt very welcome and the staff was very kind in answering all my questions with great patience.
transfer of credits
	I completed this semester with good grades. Although I think that with some courses it was easier to get a high grade than others. In Utrecht University it is for example very uncommon to receive an 'A', where this is very normal to receive in other countries.

STUDENT LIFE
welcome & orientation programme
	The programme was very warm and welcoming and I met a lot of friendly people. Next to that I directly learned a lot about the Estonian culture and the University.
accommodation

Please always take an apartment in the city center, or close to the University. I lived far away from both since it was cheaper. But in the end I spend a lot on public transportation and taxi's. If I would have lived in the city center I could have walked, and payed a bit extra rent.

leisure & culture

Living in Tallinn was great. There is a lot to see and to do and you can very easily cross the border to neighbouring countries.

suggestions/tips

Always stay open minded.
