Position Summary:

GRIMALDI ALLIANCE is seeking for last year law students with a strong interest in European Law. Ideally, candidates have completed or are close to finalizing their academic paths and are interested in gaining professional experience in an international law firm. For this purpose, previous experience in other law firms or European institutions would be an asset.

As well as possessing excellent academic credentials and legal knowledge, you are enthusiastic and curious about current legal challenges at the national, European and international level. Excellent oral and written communication skills will be major assets—enabling you manage the flow of information between practice groups, clients and stakeholders. Regularly working in large, international and multidisciplinary teams, you should also demonstrate a collaborative approach and an ease interacting with a wide range of legal and business professionals. Proactive and self-motivated, you should be eager to take ownership of your work and demonstrate the skill, talent and commitment to deliver outstanding results.

The Traineeship Practice Areas covers:

In addition to having a perfect command of English, knowledge of other EU-spoken languages is an asset. The selected trainee can expect to contribute in the following areas:
