What if

Housemate is getting tested
- Housemate with symptoms will await the results in isolation.
- Other housemates and close contacts need to be extra aware for possible symptoms and need to be responsible with social contacts. You have been in contact with a potential Corona case after all.

Housemate is tested positive
- The housemate who has tested positive stays in isolation.
- Other housemates and close contacts need to go into quarantine at home and have as little contact as possible. Always keep 1.5 m distance!
- Make a Corona toilet and shower!

Are you developing symptoms? Make a test appointment immediately! Make sure you isolate yourself as a precaution.

Are you not developing any symptoms within the quarantine period? Don’t do a test.

---

Quarantine at home
- Stay at home for 14 days. This period starts just after you last contact with a person that tested positive.
- You must self-isolate.
- Do not share bathrooms or showers.
- You can have people coming over unless it’s for medical purposes (e.g., doctor, DDS).

Isolation
- At least 7 days in isolation. This starts with the first day of being sick. If you noticed your symptoms you need to stay in isolation for another 24 hours after this, even if you test negative.
- You can have your own.
- Use separate toilets and showers if possible.
- Let other people bring food to you.
- Stay in your room and keep your distance from your roommates.

Test when?
- No symptoms → Don’t test!
- Recovered from your symptoms → Don’t test!
- (Sick) symptoms → Test!
